| No. | Information for Social Science and the Humanities | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Unit name: | Social Science and the Humanities |
| 2 | Code: | NE 6062 |
| 3 | Classification: | General Subject |
| 4 | Credit Value: | 3 |
| 5 | Semester/Year Offered: | 1/6 |
| 6 | Pre-requisite | NA |
| 7 | Mode of delivery: | Discussion, Group Work, Presentation, Role Play, Case Study |
| 8 | Assessment system and breakdown of marks: | Activity, Assignment, Tutorial, Written Exam |
| | Activity/ Performance | 30 % |
| | Assignment | 10% |
| | Tutorial | 20% |
| | Written Exam | 40% |
| 9 | Academic staff teaching unit: | Department of Nuclear Technology |
| 10 | Course outcome of unit:After completion of this course, students will be able to1. Interpret the foundational subject areas within social science and the humanities, though with a greater emphasis on social science.2. Demonstrate how each of the subject areas overlap and affect the lives of individuals in a society.3. Discriminate greater understanding the rate and style of a country's development can affect its environment, which can, in turn affect both the economy and the overall health of the society and the people who make it up.4. Design to encourage to think critically and to practice importance skills that are useful for social science students specifically.5. Appraise the reflection on individual beliefs and values though discussion about the topics and issues covered. | |
| 11 | Synopsis of unit:Social Science and the Humanities is a basic introduction to the two areas of study. The first chapter provides an introduction to social science and humanities subjects, followed by chapters focused on philosophy and ethics, human impacts on the environment, economics, development and public health. Basic introductions to people, events and eras from history, and to political ideas and theories are woven through these chapters. | |
| 12 | Topic:      Chapter 1, Social Science and the Humanities      Chapter 2, Philosophy and Ethics      Chapter 3, The Environment      Chapter 4, Economics      Chapter 5, Development      Chapter 6, Public Health | |
| 13 | Main References:Social Science and the Humanities, An Introductory Course for Myanmar Learners, Mote Oo Education, November 2018 | |
| 14 | Additional References:https://www.moteoo.org/en/social-science | |